Our Philosophy / Core Values

Our Philosophy

We believe that parents are the primary educators of their children and that the school provides the facility, the resources, and the personnel that contribute to the child's ongoing education.

We believe the role of the teacher is to facilitate and enhance each child's foundation of knowledge, instructing in a manner that recognizes individual talents and learning styles.

We believe that the school's curriculum must enable each child to develop his/her intellectual, physical, spiritual, moral, emotional, and social skills.

We believe that the curriculum revolves around the religious dimension of the school, focusing on instruction, prayer, service, and community. We are a sacramental community united in the Eucharist.

We believe the role of the school is to develop skills that encourage our students to become life-long learners, who make educated decisions rooted in Catholic values, and who function as contributing members of the community.
